

Tenure-track positions in Technology and Data Science FGV EAESP (São Paulo, Brazil)

The São Paulo School of Business Administration at Getulio Vargas Foundation (FGV EAESP) invites applications for a full-time permanent position (tenure-track) at the level of Assistant or Associate Professor to work at the Department of Technology and Data Science in the campus of Sao Paulo, Brazil. FGV EAESP is committed to diversity and inclusion and invites applications from all backgrounds to apply.

Applicants should hold a Ph.D. and the ability to teach and communicate in English. The successful candidate will be capable of developing and delivering teaching programs ensuring high-quality teaching and learning experiences. They will present a well-articulated research agenda (academic and applied research) and a track record of high-quality publications. Excellent communication skills and willingness to engage with staff and students from all backgrounds are mandatory.

Successful applicants will be expected to make a solid contribution to research. They will also be capable of teaching undergraduate and graduate courses, supervising research students, and contribute to FGV EAESP's reputation. The candidate should also show ability to coordinate undergraduate and postgraduate programs. The potential to publish excellent quality research outputs is mandatory. FGV EAESP welcomes applicants with a strong background in research design and methods. Involvement in research projects with international partners is recommended. The candidates must demonstrate the ability to deliver quality teaching using digital and innovative methods. The ideal candidate will do research that influences academia and the world of practice.

Selected applicants will be joining a vibrant research community in one of the best business schools in Latin America and a leading research-intensive institution. In 2004, the Sao Paulo School of Business Administration became the first Brazilian business school to get triple accreditation from AACSB, EFMD, and AMBA. FGV EAESP has around 2200 undergraduate students, 1600 graduate students, 250 faculty and 100 staff members. Besides, FGV EAESP partners with more than 100 leading schools around the world. With over 70 years of tradition, Getulio Vargas Foundation is a nonprofit organization focused on excellence and international projection. Our mission is to stimulate socio-economic development, to achieve academic excellence and to produce world class knowledge in business administration.

Registration period: from May 7th to June 22nd, 2024.

Please send applications to tds@fgv.br and include:

- A cover letter - two pages max - explaining the candidate motivations and main requirements for the position.
- A detailed resume (or online CVLattes, for Brazilian candidates).
- Up to three research papers that demonstrate research achievements.
- Evidence of excellence in teaching.

Selected applicants will be invited to start teaching at a convenient date for both parties. Salary and benefits are competitive with peer institutions and commensurate with qualification and experience. Confidential inquiries can be made to Head of Technology and Data Science Department Professor Eduardo de Rezende Francisco, who will also be available for informal queries (tds@fgv.br).
